

FIVE KILLED, THREE HURT, IN CRASH OF AIRPLANE

SMALL FEELS SATISFACTION IN HIS RECORD

Personal Views Given AP Writer on Eve of Leaving

BY AUBREY CRIBB
(Associated Press Correspondent)
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Looking backward over eight years of service as Chief Executive in Illinois, as he prepared to turn the keys and the emblems of office over to Louis L. Emerson, his successor, Governor Len Small today expressed himself as satisfied with his work and ready to take a rest.

On Monday he steps out of office. Len Small, the man, may then do what Len Small the public official has never done—learn to play. Work has been not only his vocation and avocation, but also his vacation. Joy in work, he said, made the Governor's tribulations. Relaxation from work as Governor was work at something else—as guiding hand, for instance, and builder of the interstate fair at Kankakee.

"They tell me," he said, "that I'm to learn golf. Maybe I may learn golf, but I doubt it. I think I'll not stay in one place long enough to learn to play anything."

All Work, No Play
With some regret the governor admitted that life had brought all work no play. "I have never been an entertainer," he said. "I cannot play cards, and public speaking is a hardship. Very early my father impressed me with the idea that cards were of no good, and a poor way to waste time. I have no scruples against them, but have never been able to get interested."

Sleep has been the Governor's relaxation. Throughout the most trying days of his administration, nights brought him sound sleep, his household declared. Work and sleep kept him in perfect trim the eight years and send him out into private life with the same sound health he had when eight years ago he took the oath of office.

Knowing his own uprightness, and the source of calumnies against him, he said, there was nothing throughout the years to drive sleep from him. He said he was always confident his true friends had faith in him.

Is Poorer Man
"I leave a poorer, much poorer man, if you mean financially," he said, "but money counts for little. I'll always have enough to live. There is another loss of pains. I go away without the wife I brought here."

"There are some things I never can forget. Disappointments in some who have turned away from me have been keen, but I find joy in the thought that in Illinois today I have more friends of the kind that count than I had when I became Governor."

"I have learned with some sadness that there are many who are friends only while favors are to be had, while the Governor, for instance, still dispenses pardons and appointments."

"Have I fought a good fight? Has it been worth it? The Governor repeated the question asked him. His head bent forward. Moments passed before he answered. Then the smile all his friends know brushed aside the weight of sinister memories and his answer was apparent before he voiced it. "Yes," he said, "I feel I have not failed."

Found Joy in Doing
"I know what it is to bring cheer to cheerless hearts of thousands of

Thrilling Rescues Feature Blaze in Hotel in Seattle

Seattle, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Thrilling rescues of guests featured a spectacular fire which was brought under control here today after destroying the Seneca Hotel, and damaging the Victoria Hotel and adjacent buildings.

Ten persons trapped in their rooms in the Seneca were carried out unconscious, while the remainder of the 50 guests, warned by the night clerk, escaped before the firemen arrived. Most of those overcome by smoke were reached with fire ladders. No one was seriously hurt.

Mrs. Nellie Ashton, who was kept from jumping from a third story window by the cries of spectators, was rescued by Patrolman W. M. Zimer. Cheers greeted him when he reached the sidewalk.

The blaze started in a stationery gained rapid headway when it reached a laundry, and caused an explosion which jarred the district. A half dozen fire companies were called.

SENATE COMMITTEE ADDS $25,000,000 TO FUND FOR PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

Would Treble Amount for Bureau: It Must Pass Both Houses

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—An increase of $25,000,000 in the fund for prohibition enforcement was approved today by the Senate appropriations committee.

The increased funds, which would become available immediately to the prohibition bureau, was voted on motion of Senator Harris, Democrat of Georgia, who recently described enforcement as a "force."

Since the prohibition law became effective ten years ago, the government has been appropriating around $13,000,000 and if the proposed increase goes through the money to use in enforcement would be trebled. The increase must be approved by the Senate and the House. The Senate committee has asked the prohibition bureau for a statement showing how it would spend the proposed $25,000,000. Including the funds for maintenance of the Coast Guard service the total appropriation in connection with prohibition enforcement this year is about $15,000,000.

Senator Harris, who is a dry, attributed the "farical" conditions in enforcement to the lack of appropriations rather than to the administration. He asked originally for $50,000,000.

KING GEORGE'S RECOVERY MUST BE VERY SLOW

Condition Reported as Satisfactory as Can be Expected

London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The British Medical Journal in an authoritative review of King George's condition today said that early and smooth convalescence was out of the question after such a severe illness but pointed out that the general symptoms had bettered of late. Announcement that the King had had a quiet day and that his condition was not changed was generally regarded as being as satisfactory as could be expected at present. None of the hopeful confidence that the King's recovery was assured was abandoned.

The Medical Journal remarked that the King was making as much headway as could be expected and that it was believed that since the beginning of the New Year upward steps toward recovery had outnumbered the downward steps.

MUSCOVIE DRAKE MAY BE WITNESS IN MINNICK CASE

Retrial of Alienation Suit Set for January 21 by Court

A Muscovie drake duck may play an important part as a silent witness in an important law suit which has been set down on the docket for trial at the January term of the Circuit Court. Attorneys representing George Minnick, well known May township farmer, are making an effort to secure the presence of the drake in court when the case comes to trial starting January 21, it became known this afternoon. The case is one in which Minnick has brought suit against Peter Knaib, Chicago auto truck dealer, who he charges with alienating the affections of Mrs. Minnick. The case was tried last spring and a jury awarded a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, but the application for a new trial was granted and the proceeding will be gone through with again at this time.

The Muscovie drake duck, one of a flock on the Minnick farm, where Knaib is said to have enjoyed several week-end visits, was finally named, "Pete, the drake," in honor of Knaib, the testimony at the first trial of the case developed. The banyard pet was not summoned into court at that time, but attorneys representing Minnick are determined to present him in evidence at the second hearing, if possible.

Agree on Date
Minnick, who disappeared for months was believed to have met with foul play, returning to Chicago after a long stay in the northwest, was finally brought to Dixon through the search instigated by Sheriff Ward T. Miller, and he has urged his attorneys to hasten the new trial in his suit. The attorneys called for the arranging of a trial date when the docket was called by Judge Edwards Wednesday morning, and Monday, January 21, was the date set for the reopening of the case.

Minnick at present is living alone on his farm in May township, where extensive oil drilling operations were carried on a few years ago, and where large quantities of natural gas are said to be available. His farm home is heated and lighted from a well in the back yard a few feet from the house, which has been flowing for several years.

KILLER ALLEGES DEATH PACT WHEN TAKEN IN CUSTODY

Agreed to Kill Former Wife and Let Law Take His Life

San Francisco, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A World War veteran, held here for the murder of his former wife, waited with apparent satisfaction today for the law to take its course, maintaining that his execution would complete a strange death pact and unite him with his erstwhile mate in the hereafter. He is Garland Williams, 28, who was accused of slaying Mrs. Lorraine Ambrose, whose body was found in a hotel room here Sunday.

When arrested in a hotel yesterday, Williams held out his wrists smilingly for the handcuffs. Police said he confessed killing the woman, assuring them that he would have given himself up as soon as he had wound up his affairs.

"You fellows got me before I was quite ready," detectives quoted him as saying, "I don't matter though, because I am ready to die, she's waiting for me, and there won't be anybody to come between us over there."

Alleged Death Pact
Police said the prisoner vowed he killed Mrs. Ambrose in a death pact that was to be completed when the law claimed his life for the murder. He said that he elected to be hanged because he objected to suicide.

Outlining his domestic troubles Williams told the officers that his wife had separated from him because of trouble caused by a "friend" who told tales about him. "She left me, and I did not follow her or molest her," Williams declared. "Last Thursday she came to my room and wanted to talk things over. She could not live without me, she said. She wanted me to kill her and then commit suicide, but I told her I couldn't do that. We talked all day, and finally she went away."

"Saturday she called me on the telephone and asked me to come to her. When I arrived, she had her suitcases packed. We took them and went to my rooms."

"She tried to coax me to turn on the gas so we could die together, but I told her I could not kill myself. "Then I thought of letting the police take care of me. We had talked all day. She agreed to that plan."

"Be sure and do a good job," she said. "Good bye, Bill."

"She just lay still while I choked her. Then I cut her wrists with a safety razor blade. I know nothing about the broken knife the police found in the room."

SMITH TO TELL NATION HE CONTINUES LEADER

Radio Will Carry Defeated Candidate's Message to World

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The New York Times today said it was hinted in Democratic circles that Alfred E. Smith would declare himself the actual leader as well as the titular head of the Democratic party in a nationwide radio speech next Wednesday evening.

No intimation came from Mr. Smith or party leaders what he would discuss. It was made clear on his behalf that he would not reveal the subject of his address in advance of its delivery.

The recent suggestion of Representative Box of Texas, Democratic whip, that the Smith policies be discarded by the party was said to have caused friends of the former Governor to expect a reply from him. The sentiment in the south for the displacement of John J. Raskob as National Chairman also was regarded as a possible factor in inducing Mr. Smith to state his views to the people.

The former Governor will speak over WEAf and a chain of 37 associated stations of the National Broadcasting Company. His speech will begin at 7:30 p. m., Central Standard time.

Second Cold Wave of Week Due Here Before Tomorrow

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The mid-west tonight will encounter the second spell of severe cold of the year, the weather bureau promised today. Zero by nightfall in the Chicago forecast district and five below by tomorrow morning, was the prophecy. Heralds of snow fell during the night, but clear skies were to add to the crispness by the time the cold sets in.

The zero wave is coming from the northwest states and the Canadian plains, where temperature readings were well under zero last night.

LONE BANK ROBBER CAUGHT WITHIN HOUR AFTER THEFT OF $7,000

Fruit Salesman, Pressed for Cash, Resort-ed to Robbery

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Within one hour after he had held up the First National Bank at Allendale, Ill., ten miles north of Mt. Carmel, at 7:30 a. m. today and escaped with $7,000 in cash, Virgil Davis, 27, a fruit salesman of Vincennes, Ind., was captured by a posse and confessed to the holdup, police announced.

All of the loot was recovered. Davis was brought to jail here. First reports were that three men participated in the robbery, but Davis confessed, officers said that he committed it alone. He said he robbed the bank because he was pressed for cash to meet two notes.

Davis has a wife and one child in Vincennes and traveled in this territory for a Vincennes produce company.

The robbery was committed soon after the bank was opened. When J. H. McClain, assistant cashier, opened the rear door, he was confronted by Davis with a revolver, according to his story. Cashier Bevel Leeds, who also was in the bank, and McClain were forced to open the vault and were locked in it after the money had been taken.

The robber fled in an automobile. Sounding a burglar alarm from within the vault, the bank officials soon summoned aid and a posse went in pursuit of the bandit car. Davis was arrested in his car two miles north of Allendale. He had changed clothes. The $7,000, all in currency, was found behind the rear seat.

ILLINOISAN HELD BY P. O. OFFICERS ON FRAUD CHARGES

Had Jumped Big Bond in East: Arrested in St. Louis

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Postoffice inspectors said today that Robert B. Webster, 31, native of Centralia, Ill., who was arrested here last night, is alleged to have obtained $89,000 through fraudulent operations in three cities, and that he also is accused of having attempted to swindle two Illinoisans of $100,000.

Webster, the federal officers said, will be returned to Boston where he jumped a $25,000 bond while under indictment on a charge of using the mails to defraud Dr. Albert E. Rand, college professor of New Haven, Conn., of $65,000 in stocks in 1924.

Webster was traced here by three postoffice inspectors through a letter he wrote to a co-worker in the east and was arrested in a barber shop. He admitted his identity but refused to discuss his alleged activities.

Inspector V. E. Albertie said Webster is alleged to have swindled a Wilmington, Del., garage owner out of $21,000 through a forged check deal, and that he is accused of having obtained $37,000 recently in a stock deal in Chicago. "We nipped in the bud his efforts to get $62,000 from a resident of Cairo, Ill., and about $39,000 from another Illinoisan," Albertie said.

Webster had been residing here for about six weeks.

Chief of Police in Hinsdale Out; Used "Buzzer" Too Often

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The reason Harry Stafford is no longer Chief of Police in Hinsdale, after three years at it, is that he pushed the buzzer too often.

The row of buzzer buttons on the chief's desk fascinated Stafford. He would press button No. 1 and a Lieutenant would dash in. He would push No. 2 and a Captain would come a-running. By executing a glissando movement across the buttons he could produce the entire police force.

Complaint was made to the village board that the buzzer habit became so serious that the nine policemen were kept doing a jack-in-the-box much of the time.

"The village board buzzed last night and created a vacancy in the Chief's chair."

Hiram Reed Appeals to Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Petition for a rehearing of the appeal of Hiram Reed, convicted in LaSalle County, Illinois, of dynamiting a school building, was filed in the Supreme Court today. Reed was charged with placing dynamite in a stove in order to kill his sweetheart, teacher of the school. The teacher was seriously injured and Reed was arrested and sentenced to prison.

RONGETTI GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER JURORS' VERDICT

Chicago Doctor Faces One to Fourteen Years in Cell

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A verdict of manslaughter carrying a penalty of one to 14 years was returned today by the jury trying Dr. Amante Rongetti on a charge of murdering Miss Loretta Enders through alleged illegal operation. On his first trial, Rongetti got a death verdict but the Supreme Court granted a new trial.

The jury had been out since about 10 o'clock last night. It was understood to have been divided for some time as to whether the physician should be convicted at all and later as to the grade of the offense and amount of penalty.

Defense attorneys made an immediate motion for a new trial which will be heard January 17. Dr. Rongetti, stylishly dressed in a brown suit and figured tie, heard the jury's decision with evidence of anger. Asked by reporters whether he was glad at hearing the new verdict carrying less than the extreme penalty, he exclaimed:

"Not by any means am I happy at not being sentenced to the electric chair. How could I be happy after being found guilty of a crime for which I am not responsible?"

The prosecution expressed satisfaction with the verdict although the death penalty had been asked.

"It was a conviction," Harry Ditchburn, Assistant State's Attorney, said, "and we are satisfied with it. You must take into consideration that this was Rongetti's second trial and that one death penalty verdict had been reversed by the Supreme Court."

The first trial resulted in a contempt citation for William Scott Stewart, defense attorney, now facing a 90 day jail sentence on a charge that he tried to tamper with state witnesses.

HIGHWAYS SLIPPERY.

Highways in the country continue to be extremely slippery, the slight thaw of yesterday having made them worse instead of better, and numerous reports of automobile skidding into the ditches are heard. BIG PASSENGER SHIP FALLS AT ARMY AIR FIELD

Army Transport Wavered in Air and Then Fell to Ground

Middletown, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Five persons were killed and three were injured when a big passenger plane crashed at Royalton, near the Army air depot here today.

The ticket agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Middletown said he saw the plane leave the field at Middletown, waver in its flight and finally fall. He rushed to the scene and helped extricate four bodies from the wreckage. Another man was dying he said.

The wrecked plane was an Army transport piloted by H. A. Dinger of Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., which arrived here at 10:40 this morning and left soon after noon. Although Captain Dinger piloted the plane to the airport here he left Middletown in another ship just ahead of the transport.

The plane was being piloted by Lieut. Robert Angel, also of Bolling Field. The machine carried seven soldiers and the lieutenant.

LEFT CAPITAL TODAY.

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The passengers in the plane which crashed near Middletown, Pa., were Sergeants Maylan, Cronon, Lehutta and McCarthy, and Privates Jones, Kelly and Birch. The machine was a Fokker transport of the C2A type and was being flown by Lieut. Henry R. Angell, who was one of the injured.

The plane was being flown from Middletown back to Bolling Field, with the Sergeants and Privates on a training flight. They had gone up this morning from Bolling Field with Captain Harry A. Dinger as pilot. Dinger returned in an Amphibian plane.

As soon as the news reached Washington a relief plane immediately was dispatched from Bolling Field. Air Corps headquarters had not received the names of those killed.

The Sergeants and Privates who were making the training flight were all stationed at Bolling Field here and were considered among the best mechanics in the Air Corps.

FLU CONFEREES END SESSION IN ROW OVER BOOZE

Suggestion of Doctor for Cheap Whiskey Not Acted Upon

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The conference called here to study the influenza problem in the United States wound up its work today amidst a dispute over the question of medicinal liquor.

Before adjourning, however, it adopted resolutions seeking from Congress larger appropriations for research and for a system of "National Public Health Defense" adequate to deal with other diseases, particularly in the rural sections.

The medicinal liquor question was brought up by Dr. Frank G. Atwood of New Haven, Conn., who said he was a teetotaler. He asked the conference to go on record as favoring medicinal whiskey "at not more than $2 a pint." The use of it should be left to the discretion of practicing physicians, he said. Atwood's suggestion finally was ruled out as "extraneous."

Cocktail Glass Danger

Having heard that one way to catch influenza was to drink out of a friend's cocktail glass, the conference today listened to a report of its committee on epidemic phases of the malady.

The conference was minus its leader, Surgeon General Cummings, who himself was ill from influenza, and it had been informed by Dr. G. H. Bigelow, State Health Officer of Massachusetts, that in his opinion there was no influenza epidemic. Dr. Bigelow in addition to saying that he was tired of reading about the supposed epidemic in the newspapers, declared that graphs, charts and figures issued were nothing more than reports on the panic of the nation.

If any of Dr. Bigelow's fellow physicians and health officers agreed with him they failed to say so, but Dr. M. J. Rosenau, Professor of Preventive Medicine at Harvard, asserted that he believed that influenza did not kill people but that pneumonia was responsible for the fatalities.

BOY GUILTY IN HEX MURDER IS JURY'S FINDING

Life Imprisonment is Recommended by Jurors in Verdict

BULLETIN

York, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—A verdict of murder in the first degree with a recommendation of life imprisonment was found today against John Curry, 14-year-old accomplice in the witchcraft slaying of Nelson D. Rehmyer.

York, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—A jury today had to choose between witchcraft and robbery as the motive for the killing of Nelson D. Rehmyer, teetotaler and "hex doctor."

"This time the life of John Curry, a 14-year-old boy, hung on that decision."

Summation by District Attorney Amos Herrmann and the court's instructions were all that remained before the second trial in York county's famous witchcraft murder should go to the jury.

The biggest obstacle in the path of the commonwealth to prove its contention that robbery was the motive was the refusal of Judge Ray P. Sherwood to admit as evidence the alleged written confession of young Curry that he had hit Rehmyer on the head with a block of wood.

Curry said on the stand he made the "confession" on the promise of Herrmann to help him. He denied the slaying. He insisted he went to the Rehmyer home on the night of the killing, November 27, "to get the lock of hair," and "to see some of this witchcraft performed."

MISSING INDEX FINGER BRINGS KILLER'S ARREST

Taxi-Cab Driver Has Confessed, Chicago Police Claim

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A 20 year old taxicab driver, the man sought for a week in connection with the slaying of Bernard J. Kurtz on Jan. 4, was found in jail early today when a detective noticed an index finger on a hand of a burglary suspect was missing.

Several hours later, police said Joseph Michaelson had confessed killing Kurtz, whose body was found in the bathroom of a rooming house, when he and his companion resisted a holdup.

Michaelson, who accompanied Kurtz here from Rockford, Ill., last Friday and was with him when he was killed, identified Michaelson.

Michaelson conveyed the two men to the rooming house in his cab and following them upstairs attempted to rob them. He fled after shooting Kurtz, police said.

Gahagan, in describing the slayer to police, said the index finger on one hand of the slayer was missing. This led to his identification by a detective. Michaelson was being held in connection with the burglary of a drug store.

Crippled Acrobat Took His Own Life

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A fellow who has made his living as an acrobat at most of his 44 years is not much good when an automobile accident sends him to a cripple's bed for life. With his wife carrying on while the husband lies helpless at home, he becomes as the players say, "excess baggage."

Elsie Levine returned home from a matinee engagement yesterday and found a note. "Dear wife," wrote Hendrick Levine, "I am absolutely no good. Please forgive—"

He had hanged himself.

Illinois' unfortunates. That I have been the means of greater happiness to many, that I have served fully and have withheld nothing, is a continuing reward. The building of hard roads where hard roads had never gone before has been one of my chief pleasures. 7,500 miles of hard roads are credited to Small's administration.

"Even at best," he said, "the Governor's job is a hard one." He indicated the difficulty he had greeted the friends who called on him these last few days. That it was an emotional strain, both for the Governor and for some of his visitors was apparent. Three women came while he was talking. They were all emotionally affected, one of them almost inarticulate.

"I'd like to save them from this," the Governor said.

Another interruption took him away with a thought undeveloped. "I am not a politician," he said, "and never have wanted to be."

Another visitor claimed him. His personal secretary and son-in-law, Colonel A. E. Ingles then said that Governor Small had noted with sadness the passing of many of his friends from activity in politics.

"Eight years has made a difference," he said, "death and retirement have withdrawn from leadership so many of the Governor's friends of earlier days."

Governor Small praised Governor-elect Emmerson. "We will leave directly after his inaugural," he said, "we go to Florida—to play golf—maybe."

Youth Convicted of Killing Sweetheart; Faces Prison Term

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Frank Schlieben, 21, was convicted of manslaughter by a jury in the court of Judge Thomas Taylor, Jr. last night for killing his 16 year old sweetheart, Sept. 25, 1928.

The conviction carries a penalty of from one to 14 years in the penitentiary.

Schlieben was released on $25,000 bond and given a sixty day stay of sentence. His appeal for a new trial was denied.

The girl, Miss Steffie Clelec, was fatally wounded by Schlieben after he refused her 25 cents for car fare and she had declined to go home unless he returned the revolver he had taken from her.

SERVICE
THERE are strange ways of serving God; You sweep a room or turn a sod. And suddenly, to your surprise, Your hear the whir of seraphim. And find you are under God's own eyes And building palaces for Him.

Twist of the Whisker
MAKES VELVET TURBAN
Paris—(AP)—Turbans of twisted velvet, sponsored by Reboux, are among the latest millinery styles. The twist may take one of several forms since it is adapted to the face of the lady under the hat. Colored velvets are used. One turban with a tight twist of velvet in place of a trim, and a big bow low on the right side, is a shade formerly called American beauty. Orange and black are combined and bright shades are worn with afternoon dresses.

Talking it Over at Annual Conference

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—There comes a time once a year when opera stars, fiddle virtuosos and other musical artists are talked about in plain and frequently harsh terms. It is at the annual conference of the National Civic Music Association, now in session.

More than 200 delegates, many coming from obscure hamlets, are attending. Their purpose is to have a heart-to-heart talk about the talent, with a view to further engagements, or the contrary.

One star of the Chicago Civic Opera Company whose art is spoken of with awe by many musicians in the "big leagues" will never get another chance to sing in because, as the lady delegate from there said, "She's altogether too high hat."

True Blue Class Elected Officers

Mrs. John Fellows delightedly entertained the True Blue Class of the Christian church Thursday afternoon, with sixteen in attendance.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Fellows. Mrs. Kindig read the Scripture lesson followed by sentence prayers.

New officers were elected as follows:

Mrs. J. E. Newcomb—President.
Mrs. Fred McCordle—Vice President.
Mrs. Jesse Martin—Secretary.
Mrs. James Leach—Treasurer.

The class voted to make this year the banner year in attending both Bible class and communion services; with daily Bible reading.

The second Thursday of each quarter is set aside as the day for class meeting, the next one to be April 12.

During the social period examination questions on last quarter's lessons were answered after which the hostess served daily refreshments.

A general meeting of the Women's Committee, Illinois Northern Utilities Company has been called for Monday, January 14. It will be an all day session starting at 10:00 a. m., and will be held in the meeting room of the company's General Office, 421 W. 1st St. It is expected that over sixty women employees will attend from the company's properties.

Miss Helen G. McKinley of the Edison Lamp Works, Harrison, N. J., will be the guest speaker. She will talk to the morning session on the fundamentals of home lighting and in the afternoon, on its decorative possibilities.

The afternoon session is an open one, and invitations have been sent to the women of Dixon, inviting them to attend as guests of the Committee members. It is hoped that all who can will plan to come. Miss McKinley is an interesting speaker of wide experience. Her talk will be of deep interest and replete with information for every homemaker. This session will start at 2:30 o'clock sharp.

After this an hour of jolly visiting was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held in February at the home of Mrs. Charles Bremer.

ACTRESS AWARDED DAMAGES IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Jan. 11—(AP)—A motion picture actress' lips are "stock in trade," a Los Angeles judge stated yesterday in awarding Thelma Gorman of the movies damages of $712 from Kenneth Sanderson because her upper lip was marred in an automobile accident for which Sanderson was held responsible. Judge James H. Pope, who made the ruling, said: "In this day and age a woman's lips are her stock in trade especially if she is engaged in motion pictures."

Unity Guild Held Pleasant Meeting

The Unity Guild held an all day meeting with Mrs. Charles Herick Thursday, at her home on West Second street. The usual excellent dinner was served at noon, which was enjoyed by all. After dinner a short business meeting was held.

The Bidding: South opens the bidding with one Spade. West bids two hearts. North passes as he does not hold normal support in spades and any other bid would be misleading. South bids two spades and all pass. South might also have opened the bidding with two spades; an initial bid of two in a suit denotes the exact holding of six cards in that suit headed by the Ace, King and Queen.

Deciding the Play: West leads King of hearts and on the second round captures another trick with the Ace of hearts. Then West leads King of clubs which Declarer captures with Ace of clubs. What suit should Declarer now lead?

The Error: Declarer tries to establish diamonds at the first opportunity and leads that suit.

The Correct Method: As soon as he is on the lead, Declarer draws opponents' trumps, playing Ace, King and Queen of spades in that order with the probability that the five outstanding trumps are divided three and two. Then the diamonds are established and game is assured for, if opponents lead any other suit after winning Ace of diamonds, Declarer wins the trick by ruffing it. The attempt to establish the diamonds too soon may result in sacrificing the game as opponents, having won two tricks in hearts and one in diamonds, may continue the diamond suit with the possibility of winning the next diamond trick by ruffing. There is no necessity of taking this lone chance of losing the game.

The Principle: Draw trumps when you can do so without surrendering control of them and have a side suit which you can readily establish thereafter.

Better Legislation On Educational Lines

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Increase in the distributive school fund, a minimum school term of eight months, higher qualifications for beginning teachers, larger school districts, more liberal support for the teacher-training institutions and equalization of tax assessments are

THE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT.

The city of Detroit has renewed its activity in the fight for the Great Lakes-to-the-sea ship canal via the St. Lawrence river.

It is to be hoped that definite action on this great project can be had in the near future. During the recent presidential campaign both candidates spoke in favor of it; Mr. Hoover, as an engineer, can tackle the problem from the viewpoint of an expert.

Although the canal would primarily benefit the middle west and northwest, it would ultimately benefit the entire prosperity of all. If the new administration could get a genuine start on the big canal it would have something in its country. What helps the prosperity of one section helps the record to which it could point with justifiable pride.

In the town of Rocky River, O., the other day, a motorist stopped his car in front of the police station and came inside.

"I wish you'd keep me here a while," he said. "I'm too intoxicated to drive my car safely."

The amazed police accommodated him until he was properly sober; and on the following day, when he appeared in court, the judge was so overcome that he let him off with a five-dollar fine. And we're trying to dope out just what the moral of the little episode is.

Should the motorist be condemned for getting drunk in the first place? Or should he be praised for realizing his condition and going to the police station? It's a peculiar one to figure out.

A PROMISE IN CHINA.

Chiang Kai-shek, president of China, tells his countrymen that he will see to it that the unequal treaties between China and the foreign powers are abrogated in the near future.

If this has not been done within three years, he says, he will allow his fellow citizens to cut off his head.

Very likely this is just an eloquent gesture. Yet it is fascinating to speculate on the possibilities if other presidents should adopt the idea. Can't you just picture a president of the United States vowing that he would submit to decapitation if he had not succeeded in making the country prosperous during his four years in office?

A Cleveland judge refused a divorce to a woman who complained that her husband refused to shave over the week end, the judge holding it was his right to grow whiskers if he pleased. It was a close shave, though.

Here is the headline, word for word, just as it appeared in a New York newspaper the other day: "Cool Robbers Get $30,000 Loot in Fur Shop."

Now that many of the marines have come home from Nicaragua, why not give them jobs watching juries in the District of Columbia?

In Buffalo a man killed himself because "the only girl he ever could marry was too beautiful and too good." Girls, have a heart.

An Ohio bank teller embezzled $11,000 which he said was spent for "good liquor." He must have bought a pint.

Two people confessed stealing $70,000 in jewels from an opera singer the other day. Truth is stranger than fiction.

There's a saloon for every 100 inhabitants in the Rhineland. That's almost as many as they have in Detroit.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Some dwarfs stood near and laughed. "Ho, ho! Into the cream the Tinies go! We played a dandy trick on them, but it was just in fun. We surely hope that they're not mad, 'cause if they are it's just too bad. We will not let them catch us, 'cause we'll turn around and run."

By this time all the Tinymites were very funny looking sights. They'd landed in the bowl of cream and splashed it in the air. The cream was whipped up very thick. So really it made quite a slick place for the bunch to land in, and they didn't seem to care.

Said Scouty, "We won't make a fuss. It's quite a joke you've played on us. I've swallowed 'bout a quart of cream and it tastes pretty fine." Then Clowny added, "So have I," and then he heaved a mournful sigh, and said, "Oh, you may think this lots of fun, but not for mine."

"Ha, ha, ho, ho, ha, ha, he, he," laughed Coppy. "Take a look at me. I'm covered now from head to foot, and just as white as snow. To hop out of this bowl I'm keen. But, how on earth will we get clean? If we know of a swimming pool that's just where we could go."

"Now, never mind," one dwarf yelled loud. "Just follow me, you Tiny crowd. I'll call the little cream cats out and they will lick you clean." So, from the bowl the Tinies jumped, and then some cat paws thumped and thumped. The Tinies looked real cheerful as some cats came on the scene.

Of course the cats soon spied the cream, and quicker than you'd ever dream, they ran up to the Tinies and began to lick real fast. "See!" said the dwarf. "I knew they would. And I'll just bet that cream tastes good. The fun will soon be over, 'cause it's just too good to last."

(The Tinies watch the dwarfs work in the next story.)

Just What Does A Typical Collegian Look and Act Like

Washington, Jan. 10—(AP)—Does the typical collegian have socks but no garters? Is his shirt and collar rumpled and his suit habitually wrinkled? Is there any connection between the attempt to be "collegiate" and such problems as drinking, "necking," and neglect of class work?

Henry Grattan Doyle, Dean of Men at George Washington University, thinks the answer to the question is no, but he wants information on the subject and to that end he had sent questionnaires to the deans of four hundred leading colleges. He plans to present his survey before the annual convention of the Association of Deans and Advisors of Men in Washington, April 11, 12 and 13.

He declared that he was sending his questionnaire in an effort to contribute something toward the correction of what he believed an erroneous public opinion about the "collegiate" boy and girl.

The production of malt syrup in 1926 was 438,000,000 pounds, and last year it was 450,000,000 pounds.

BOXING INDUSTRY PUZZLED WITHOUT TEX' LEADERSHIP

Outlook for Year is Decidedly Mixed, Leaders State

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Bereft of its leader, a puzzled boxing industry looked at the world today and found nothing there to cheer about. Without Tex Rickard the market price for high-grade cauliflower threatens to decline.

At the start of the year the heavy-weight program for 1929 was rather clearly defined: The Stribling-Sharkey bout at Miami Beach, February 27; a battle between two other leading contenders, probably Tom Heeney and Paulino Uzcudun; a clash between the winners of these two matches; and a final round battle for the title between the ultimate survivor and Jack Dempsey.

But all that has been changed. There are indications that the Stribling-Sharkey bout will not be held, at least on its scheduled date, and that Dempsey will reconsider his decision to return to the ring.

To Seek Contracts
William F. Carey, first vice president and treasurer of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, and other officials announced that they were investigating as to whether contracts for the Stribling-Sharkey match had been signed. If contracts have been made, the Garden will go through with the match as scheduled. If no contracts exist, Garden officials are not sure what they will do.

Although nothing official was said about it, there were indications that Rickard's successors considered exorbitant reported guarantees of $100,000 to Sharkey and $40,000 to Stribling.

The Garden cannot afford to lose any money on the first big match it promotes without the benefit of Rickard's vision. The loss of prestige might conceivably have a serious effect on the corporation's standing. Dempsey declines to say definitely whether he will return to the ring.

Dempsey to Investigate.
"I am going back to Miami Beach directly to pick up those negotiations with the people with whom Tex was interested and with whom he desired me to become interested and after I have become thoroughly familiar with the details of the proposed business arrangements I will come to a decision," the former champion declared.

"Should the Madison Square Garden people decide to stage the Sharkey-Stribling match and I can be of any assistance to them it will be a pleasure for me to render that assistance so that Mrs. Rickard and her baby may benefit from such arrangements."

At the same time it became rather plain that Dempsey will not become head of the boxing end of the Garden's business.

Dempsey said that he had not been offered that post nor any other by the Garden and that besides, he had too many other business interests to serve as an executive of the Garden. Even more pertinent to the subject perhaps was his remark: "I don't kid myself that I could fill Tex's shoes even if they gave me the job."

The boxing world in general is inclined to believe that no one else will find that an easy task either.

Hooks and Slides

Liked Big Fellows

Although he confessed that, of all the fighters he had ever associated with, he thought most of Jim Jeffries and Jack Dempsey, the late Tex Rickard was partial to bigger men than either of the two former heavy-weight champions. He felt that when he had two huge fellows booked that half of the work was done.

He admitted that he thought he had made a mistake after he signed Dempsey to fight Willard. He thought that Dempsey was too small and he was convinced that the crowd was held down for that fight because of a feeling that little Dempsey didn't have a chance against the gigantic Willard.

Felt Sorry for Jack

Rickard said several times in later years that he felt sorry for Dempsey as the time approached for the Toledo battle. He had been told and knew of his own knowledge that Willard wasn't training, but he thought that a huge, powerful man such as he was, didn't have to be in first-class condition to beat a little fellow.

It is related that on the night before the fight Rickard spent some time with Willard discussing the possibility of an exhibition tour after the fight and the defense of his title again as soon as he could get a good big fellow for him.

Carp Got a Title

He had the same concern about the size when he began to consider Carpenter as a prospective opponent for Dempsey. There wasn't an awful lot of actual difference in the specifications of the champion and the Frenchman, but he didn't like the advance publicity from Paris that boasted of Carpenter as a middleweight.

It came to pass fortunately that Carpenter was established as an eligible for competition in the heavy-weight class when he won the world's light heavyweight championship from Battling Levinsky.

The weights of the two fighters, however, were carefully watched. The trainers of Dempsey and Carpenter would not permit them to be weighed in public and their word had to be taken that they weighed "about" so much.

Firpo Had the Size

It was Firpo's size that made such a tremendous hit with Rickard. The general make up of the South American was just what Rickard had pictured as an ideal for promotion as a challenger. When Firpo was first called "the wild bull of the Panamas" Rickard chuckled and said: "There couldn't be no better name for him. The people will look for him on the streets now."

Paulino Too Laughy

Rickard was steamed up about Paulino until he saw him. When I returned from Paris in 1924 Rickard asked me if I had seen Paulino and I told him that I had seen George Cook, the Australian, beat him in a terrible 10-round bout. Rickard didn't ask about the fight.

"How big is he?" he inquired and I told him that he had weight, but was rather short and chunky.

That ain't right unless he could fight like Dempsey," he said.

When Paulino came to this country and met Rickard, even before he had fought, Rickard said that he didn't think he would do.

"He laughs too much to be a wild man," he said.

Yankees Embark in Chain Club Business

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The New York Yankees finally have fallen in line with the "chain store" baseball idea, extending their sphere of activity to include the Chambersburg, Pa., club of the Blue Ridge League. The purchase of the controlling interest in the Chambersburg club was announced yesterday. It is the Yankees' first venture into minor league ownership although Manager Miller Huggins long has advocated the system. Chambersburg won the pennant for the first half of the split season in the Class D league last year. Tom Clark, who was a coach for Jersey City last season, has been appointed manager of the club.

PRESIDENT OF A. A. U. IN DEFENSE OF ITS POSITION

Says Union Seeks to Guide, Not Control
Amateur Sports

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States seeks to guide, not to control amateur sports in this country, President Brundage of Chicago explained in a lengthy statement today.

President Brundage's statement was issued as the result of a controversy with Northwestern University, which several relationships with the A. A. U. when that organization disqualified several Northwestern swimmers from competing in a meet with the Chicago Athletic Association Wednesday night.

The controversy threatens to cause a break between the A. A. U. and the Big Ten, one of the strongest athletic conferences in the United States.

"For 40 years the Amateur Athletic Union, as the governing body of amateur sport in the United States, has watched amateur sport grow and expand under its guidance," Brundage said, in part. "The word 'guidance' is used advisedly instead of 'rule' or 'control', since the A. A. U. feels amateur sports should not be ruled or controlled by anyone, and its aim is to educate and guide along the right road under sane regulations. It stands firmly, however, for an observance of the rules and insists that those who wish to play the game shall observe the code."

Brundage explained that the disqualified Northwestern swimmers knew they would be disqualified before they competed in the "outlaw" meet last summer.

"Northwestern decided that if part of its team could not compete none of them could and called off the meet," Brundage said. "We regret Northwestern took such a stand, but we feel the position of the A. A. U. is both sound and logical and that any deviation from the principle that there must be one national organization, controlling open competition would lead to utter confusion."

The following letter explains itself.

360 Lincoln Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa.

December 28, 1928.

Mr. J. M. Finnell,
2206 Howard St.,
Omaha, Neb.

My dear Mr. Finnell:

This is the same old preacher for whom you installed an Excello Burner at 375 Benton St., this city, three or four years ago.

Now, I have moved back to Council Bluffs to stay and we have a house at 360 Lincoln Avenue in which I may conclude to install an oil burner.

Should you be in this city in the near future drop up and look the premises over and then make me an estimate for installing a burner complete. If I should not install a burner this season, I certainly will for next, and I feel that the Excello is good enough for me.

Wishing you and yours a Happy New Year, I am

Sincerely Yours,
G. D. Crissman.

Old Time Racing Mechanic Will Be Back In Race Game

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—He's coming back, the picturesque old racing mechanic of a decade ago. And take it from Waldo Stein, riding pal of Barney Oldfield, he is going to bring back something that 500-mile speedway competition needs.

Perhaps the new mechanic at first will lack the color of the old fashioned "second" of racers, who could pump oil with one hand, pump air and fuel with the other and signal to his riding mate and the pits with his grease-smeared head. But he will prove his worth in the field of high powered speed events. So reasons Stein, now a tire firm official, who rode with the immortal Barney for ten years.

A victory for manufacturers was this move which to them amounts to the restoration of a vast laboratory for the whole automobile world. The cars have been refined until they are superb racing machines but of less value to the engineering fraternity," the contest board of the American Association stated in its announcement yesterday that the two-man car would be restored to the Indianapolis 500-mile race, effective in 1930.

The big speedway event, to be known hereafter as the Grand Prize of America, by action of the board yesterday, will see the speed-decreased temporarily, but Captain Eddie Rick, member, chairman of the board and president of the Indianapolis Speedway Association, believes that manufacturers "in the near future" will have cars in the field that will do 120 miles an hour and better.

STATE BUYS FARM FOR PROPAGATION OF QUAIL IN ILL.

Gov. Small Makes Announ- cement of Interest to Sportsmen

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Purchase of the first quail propagating farm ever owned by the State of Illinois, a 423 acre tract in Ford and Champaign counties which cost $130 an acre, was announced today by Governor Len Small.

Resulting from many years' agitation for such a farm by sportsmen of Illinois, purchase was held up by a disagreement over the price. Owners of the land finally agreed to reduce their quoted price of $200 to $130 an acre, and the contract was signed.

The tract had previously been surveyed by Gus H. Radebaugh, Director of the State Department of Conservation. The survey showed one-half of the tract under cultivation, and the remainder divided between wooded and pasture lands. The Vermilion river meanders through it, affording as nearly an ideal place for propagating the game bird as the state affords.

Got Expert Advice

Experts whose opinions were sought included Dr. Henry Baldwin Ward of the University of Illinois and Seth Gordon, Conservation Director of the National Izaak Walton League. Both made a tour of the land and expressed their approval. Mr. Gordon regarded establishment of the farm as "the most forward step in conservation the state has taken."

While the state has previously entered into the propagation of pheasants and other game, this is the first venture in raising quail. Through the purchase Governor Small "hopes to place Illinois on equal footing with other states in conservation of this valuable bird."

Experimentation will be carried on at the farm as well as propagation, under preliminary plans of the department of conservation.

Postpone Action on Prohibition Probe

Washington, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee went over proposals for an investigation of prohibition enforcement today and finally postponed action until Monday so that amendments to pending resolutions might be considered.

Senators Jones, Republican, Washington, a dry, and Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, a wet, have written resolutions on the subject and both appeared before the committee declaring they were in agreement as to the results to be obtained from the investigation. The Edge plan, which is agreeable to Senator Jones would have Mr. Hoover name a commission of nine citizens of his own choosing after he becomes President, empowered to make "a searching investigation" of enforcement conditions.

An amendment was offered by Senator Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, that the committee should especially investigate as to whether enforcement of prohibition should be under the jurisdiction of "an ex-distiller."

"If we don't adopt this amendment Hoover might put Mellon on the board," Neely declared.

Good Thoughts for Good People

It is the truth that man is the image and likeness of God, Spirit, that frees us from believing that hatred, lust, selfishness, greed, are any part of true selfhood, and enables us to know that we are pure and good.

The Christian Science Monitor, Thou hast made us for Thyself, and the heart never resteth till it findeth rest in Thee.

St. Augustine Oh, sometimes glimpses on my sight, Through present wrong, the eternal right; And, step by step, since time began, I see the steady gain of man. Henceforth my heart shall sigh no more For olden time and holier shore; God's love and blessing then and there.

Are now and here and everywhere.

Whittier So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him. . . . And God, saw every thing that he had made and, behold, it was very good.

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH
North Side
E. Fellows St. and N. Ottawa Ave.
Rev. Frank Brandfeller, Pastor
We preach Christ crucified, risen and coming again.
Sunday Services:
9:30 Morning Prayer Circle.
9:45 Church Bible School. Supt.

Lee Lincoln. We have classes for all ages.
10:45 Morning worship. Expository message from the first chapter of Second Peter.
6:30 Christian Endeavor Service.
7:30 Evangelistic service. The first of a series of messages on the "Cross of Christ" will be given. The emphasis on what Christ has done is very necessary these days. This has proven to be one of the most fruitful means of winning souls for Christ. The appeal of such a message seems to be universal as well it should, for the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ (which is defined in 1 Cor. 15, consists in the fact of His death for our sins, His resurrection for our justification, and His coming again for our translation or our resurrection) is the power of God unto Salvation to every one that believeth.

Through these series of messages we shall try and show the need, message and meaning of the Cross of Christ.
"For the preaching of the Cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God. But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling block, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God." (1 Cor. 1).

Monday—7:30 p. m. The Young Peoples Missionary circle will meet. Wednesday—7:30 Prayer, praise and Bible study hour for every member of the family.
Christ died for our sins and was raised again for our justification. We have a message and a welcome for every one.

BROWNS TO RELY ON SAME BUNCH IN COMING RACE

Howley Expects Team to be Menace to Huggins' Men

BY REX NEWMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
St. Louis, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The same team that surprised baseball by finishing a strong third in the 1928 American League race will be virtually intact when the St. Louis Browns go into the 1929 campaign.

Manager Dan Howley not only has lost none of the first string strength of last season, but had added what he considers to be some promising new material, picked up from the minors. He also believes the team will show marked improvement because of experience.

If he can develop a stronger pitching staff, and possibly do some shifting in the infield to strengthen the second base position, now regarded as open, Howley feels confident the team will be a grave menace to the Yankees and Athletics in the coming scramble for the flag.

The new flock of pitching prospects includes Warren Collins, veteran major leaguer who is staging a comeback from Toronto; Herb Cobb, from Wichita Falls; Chad Kinsley, from Tulsa, and Oscar Estrada, blown in by the draft. Claude Jonnard comes up from Milwaukee for another trial in the big show. Howley has faith in the future of Dick Coffman, a youngster, and believes that George Blacholder, Ed Strelecki and John Odgen should be more effective this year. He is counting on Sam Gray and Alvin Crowder, mainstays of last year's mound staff, for a large share of victories. Crowder led the league in the percentage of games won and lost last year.

COMPTON NEWS

Compton—The school building in Compton burned early Tuesday morning. The structure and its equipment is a total loss with the exception of a small amount of insurance. The building was an old frame building which had been stuccoed outside and modernized inside. Its loss is a severe blow to the community but brings to the community the opportunity to build a school that will enhance property values, and make Compton a more desirable place in which to live. The loss has been estimated as about $15,000, but this figure does not include the property losses of pupils and teachers. Of the latter, Miss Evelyn Saylor is probably the heaviest loser, she having lost her printing outfit, type, mimeographs, material for the annual, etc. All teachers lost books and study material collected during a number of years. A meeting will be held Wednesday with L. W. Miller, County Superintendent of schools, to discuss ways and means of providing Compton with a school building. Temporary quarters will be in use when school begins again Monday morning. Several locations for temporary rooms are being discussed, among which is the church basement and Sunday school room. In this loss, the community will either turn into the avenue of progress or will turn down the back alley leading to oblivion.

Bruce W. Gilmore left Thursday morning with his aunt and uncle,
Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chaffee of Paw
Paw, for Palm Beach, Fla. Mr.
Gilmore will enjoy the sunshine
there until the first of next month.
The party left Paw Paw in Mr.
Chaffee's Essex coach and motored to Valparaiso, Ind., to spend the first night of the trip with his brother there. Friday they had planned to start on the southern trip for Florida.

A. C. Schneider is getting along nicely following an operation at the Dixon hospital last week. Mr.
Schneider plans to be removed to his home here in town by Friday or Saturday of this week.

M. E. Ladies Aid Society will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs.

John S. Archer Wednesday, Jan. 16.

Miss Evelyn Saylor did not return to her teaching duties here following her departure for the Christmas vacation at Springfield, Ill. It is reported that Miss Saylor has been confined to her bed due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guinnip were here from Forrest Park for over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Gilmore enjoyed a dinner at the home of Mrs.
Joshua Wolford and John Myrtle of Rockford; Mrs. Edna Mannion and son Harold of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs.
Arthur Bartsch and son Arlo of Forrest Park; Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. L. McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Gilmore.

Paul Kessler has returned from the hospital at Ottawa, having somewhat recovered from the accident that ac-curred when he drove his Hudson coach into a train near Yorkville two weeks ago last Monday. Mrs.

Kessler and daughter, who were with him were able to return a week after the accident, as their condition was not quite so serious as Mr. Kessler's.
A baby daughter was born to Mr.
and Mrs. Luther Hayes on last Sunday evening at their home out north of town.

Miss Mabel Zimmerman and Mrs.
Chas. Carnahan, who have been on nursing duty here at the Compton hospital and at private homes, are reported to be ill at their respective homes.

Paul Krings is somewhat laid up, having trouble with his foot. His daughter Mrs. Sigmund Knutson and husband braved the zero temperature Saturday evening, and motored here from Chicago to be with her father
over Sunday.

John Adrian was here from Hinckley Monday looking after the affairs of his sister, the late Miss Emma Adrian Estate.

Rev. Eggers was brought to the local hospital here Tuesday afternoon, and underwent an operation later in the day.

A change in the time schedule of the passenger car has been announced by the C. B. & Q. agent, H.
F. Cook. The train will arrive here for the East at 12:04 noon, and will return for the west, arriving here at 2:17 in the afternoon. The change will be effective next Monday morning, Jan. 14.

Compton M. E. Church

announce that Sunday School will be held at 9:30. Morning worship will follow Junior Church at 10:30.

RUSSIA'S SNOW-COVERED ROOF WILL BE EXPLORED

Osh, Pamir Mountains.—(AP)—
The last "white spot" of unknown land on the maps of Russia, the "roof of the world" in the Pamir mountains, has now been explored and charted.

A joint German-Russian expedition, recently returned from the Pamir highlands, announced the discovery of heretofore unknown rivers, peaks and glaciers. One glacier stretched seventy miles, north to south, and is said to be the second largest in the world.

MOSCOW RAG COLLECTORS SEE WOLF AT THE DOOR

Moscow.—(AP)—Rag-collectors have a hard time of it in Moscow.
Most people save rags for use in making patches. That is why there were many chuckles at a recent suggestion from the commissariat of labor that Moscow's 250,000 unemployed be hired by the new government rag and junk collecting monopoly.

They're Looking Well

They radiated health, did the Hoovers, when they came home from their good-will trip to South America. Bronzed by tropical sunshine and weeks spent at sea, they are pictured here as they looked when they landed on home soil, fit for the strenuous pre-inauguration grind.

In Billion Dollar Rate Case

Here are the legal stars of one of the biggest cases ever staged in the United States Supreme Court. They talk in terms of hundreds of millions and billions of dollars, for the litigation between the Interstate Commerce and several appellant railroads will affect railroad property valued up to $30,000,000,000. At the top are three of the counsel representing the roads left to right Leslie Craven, of Chicago; Frederick H. Wood, New York; Robert H. Kelley, Texas. Below are two lawyers who served in the cabinet when Chief Justice Taft, now presiding, was president. Walter L. Fisher, left, former Secretary of the Interior, is attorney for the commission; George W. Wickersham right, who served as Attorney General, is counsel for the government.

Bay State's New Boss

It was a floral welcome that awaited Massachusetts' new chief executive, Frank G. Allen, when he entered the governor's chambers in Boston on his first day in office. Pictured with him here is the first lady of the Bay State, the two of them surrounded by flowers from well-wishers.

HAD POOR MEMORY

Springfield, Ill., Jan 10—(AP)—A lady in Milwaukee, who is flush with bail money, probably will ignore the coming incarceration there of James Davidson.

Last November Mr. Davidson kindly consented to carry $200 to the police station in Milwaukee to bail out Gladys Frederick, who was held on a disorderly conduct charge. The money was given him by Jewell Barnett, who expected to see Gladys rush in with profuse thanks within the hour.

But somehow, Mr. Davidson became absent minded, Miss Barnett charged, and forgot all about poor Gladys behind the bars. He remembered an appointment at Park Ridge, Ill., and forthwith repaired to fill it. The Park Ridge police got word of his forgetfulness and thoughtfully detained him. Governor Len Small signed another reminder today in the way of extradition papers.

IRISH MINISTER TO U. S.
Dublin, Irish Free State, Jan 10—(AP)—Michael MacWhite, who has represented the Irish Free State at Geneva since 1922, has been appointed minister to Washington to succeed Timothy Smiddy, recently transferred to London as high commissioner.

CRIMINAL TRIALS BARGAIN PLACES WITH THE LAWS

Dean of Law College Makes Charge in Address Today

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Criminal trials have become merely bargain marts where offenders jockey with the law to obtain conviction on charges from which they may expect parole or probation. Dean Albert J. Harno of the Illinois College of Law said here today.

"Under the Illinois statutes," he said, "various law violators upon their conviction are eligible to probation; that is they are eligible to release on good behavior, through which method is withheld from them the stigma of a penitentiary sentence."

"The statute bars from probation those offenders who have committed murder, manslaughter, rape, kidnaping, willful and corrupt perjury, larceny and embezzlement where the amount taken or converted exceeds two hundred dollars in value, invest, burglary of an inhabited dwelling house, conspiracy and acts made an offense under the election laws of this state."

"However, there are instances in Illinois in which the courts have granted probation on the offenses excepted by the statute. A study of the criminal records also shows that the courts, particularly in Cook county, frequently have accepted pleas of guilty to lesser offenses when the crimes charged were among those offenses excepted by the statute.

Various circumstances may prompt a court in accepting a lesser plea. The inference is strong, however, that in some instances the lesser plea was accepted in order to bring the offenders within the provisions of the probation act.

"While the granting of probation to certain offenders is an advanced and humane manner of dealing with them, the acceptance of a lesser plea where the purpose is to bring the violate within the probation statute ordinarily is reprehensible. Such cases frequently have in the background a system of bargaining through which the prosecution holds forth a reward of probation if the offender will plead guilty. Such maneuvering must be condemned emphatically as not being within the purpose and spirit of the law."

GAP GROVE

Gap Grove—B. Frank Hoover called on our former fellow townsman Milton Noakes Friday afternoon and found them all enjoying good health.
He has finished picking corn and is enjoying the usual farmer's prosperity. His son James is tester for the Whiteside Co. Dairy Association.

J. H. Ocker did not drive his usual trip to his meat market in Polo Monday morning on account of the ice and cold. Although J. H. looks hale and hearty, he must be careful of his health.

This changeable weather causes those who have rheumatism to suffer very the past few days. He has completely lost his sight.

Lewis Gansert of Wisconsin spent Friday night at the C. J. Sweitzer home. They were schoolmates.

W. H. Maxwell is under the care of a physician with sinus trouble. He is convalescing.

Edna Sweitzer who was taken sick in Dixon and stayed with her grandparents two weeks, was brought home
New Year's Day and is now improving, being able to sit up about two hours each day. Flu so reduced her vitality that it will take her a long time to fully recover.

The M. D. Taylor family are quar-antined on account of an exposure to the small pox. None of the family is really sick as none are confined to bed. The entire family were vaccinated Friday but the virus seems to be taking no effect, showing their systems to be immune to the disease.

W. H. Maxwell is under the care of a physician with sinus trouble. He is slowly improving.

The Prairieville Social Circle's meetings have been postponed from time to time because of the prevailing sickness.

Mrs. Mamie Wiemken called on Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ocker Monday evening. Her children who were nearly all sick with the flu and grip are well again.

Roscoe Leicht has shot nearly fifty rabbits so far this season. Who can show more?

Last Monday morning the thermometer registered 19 below the coldest this winter.

Geo. Wechsler of Prairieville is expecting another carload of coal within the next few days. He has already sold several carloads this winter.

Auto licenses? Yes, B. Frank Hoover will write your application.

Herman Alber had the misfortune to have a 700-lb. hog die last Friday.

LEE CENTER ITEMS

Lee Center—The installation of the officers of Arbutus Chapter 553 O. E.
S. in Amboy last Friday night was a brilliant, happy occasion. One hundred twenty-five members and friends were in attendance with guests from Dixon, Franklin Grove, Sublette and LaMoille. Baskets of beautiful flowers together with the evening gowns worn by many of the ladies brightened the lodge room effectively.

At the opening, Ruth Bloom, returning worthy matron presided with Frank Jewett, P. P. as worthy patron.

The installing officers, Florence Herrick, grand lecturer, the installing marshall, Frances Honeycutt, P. M., the installing chaplain, Mae L. Spunner, P. M., were respectively introduced by Pearl Sartorius, Fannie Doty and Clara Carmichael, all past matrons. Bessie Braman, P. M. was installing organist, Roy Bates presented the flag and the audience sang
"The Star Spangled Banner". The following officers were then installed with the exception of the treasurer,

Mar.—Minnie Dewey

As the worthy matron knelt at the

You Truly," and as she approached the east eleven Knights Templar in full regalia formed an escort for her and a moment later for the worthy patron also. The Sir Knights were

Each of the installing officers re-

A YEAR OF PROGRESS

It has been one year since we started plans for our
"New Lumber Yard" in Dixon.

For the first year it was operated as DIXON FUEL & SUPPLY COMPANY and we recently changed the name to HUNTER LUMBER COMPANY

Our first year has been more successful than we had thought for—and although our sales have been modest in dollars and cents they have been high in CUSTOMER SATISFACTION —and that really is a good measure of a successful growing business.

The New Finance Plan we announced
January 2nd is an indication of the progress we will make this year.

If you plan to build, re-model, re-roof or repair—you owe it to yourself, your community—and to us, for we have placed faith in Dixon, to give us an opportunity to help you.
